THE VISION & THE MISSION

Hubertus Scheidlbergers vision is to increase work motivation, more TEAM spirit, less sick leave and a higher degree of identification in companies worldwide.

He is a management consultant, coach and trainer. 20 years ago he discovered the path of biocentric living and biocentric management, which consequently changed his life completely. He resigned from his managerial position at Siemens with more than 700 employees and has been working since then to bring biocentric knowledge and ways of life to people through a variety of seminars and workshops.

EXPERTISE

TRIOLOGICALmove is a new training method that addresses the cognitive, the emotional and the transfer level equally. As a result, individual training content and goals are communicated more efficiently and effectively. Through exercises, specialist content can be experienced and emotionalized, which leads to a double transfer of knowledge. It depends on the interaction of two experienced trainers. While one trainer is responsible for conveying the theoretical content, the other converts it into simple and at the same time rhythmic exercises with movements. As a result, learning effects are achieved in the shortest possible time.
